Pottery

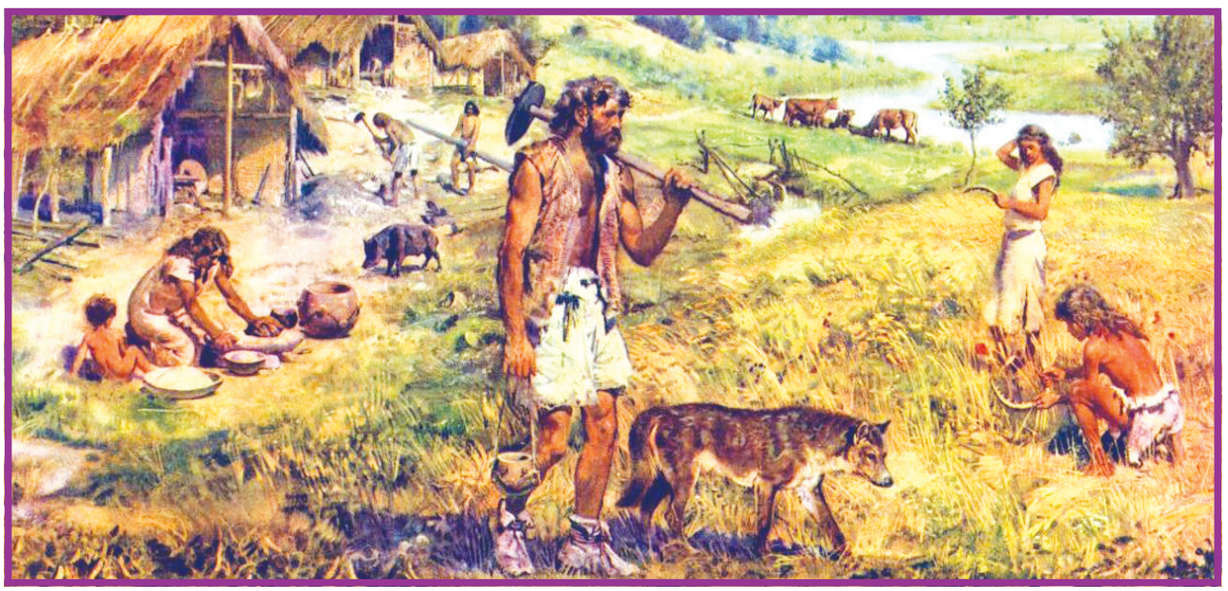

Pottery was also one of the greatest inventions by humans. The baked pot was strong and looked beautiful. Stone age people made all the household articles by themselves.

Stone houses were built. The roofs of these houses were thatched with sticks and husks. After several inventions, humans started to live in a settled life.

Agriculture

Agriculture was an important activity in the history of humans. They started cultivating crops. They sowed seeds and harvested crops. They found it convenient to live along the river as the crops grew well.

Museum is a place where archaeological objects which were used by our ancestors are preserved. These give information about the lives of ancient people. Therefore it is important to preserve the remains of the past.

KL9W6

5th Social Science EM Term-1 Unit-2.indd 157 21/02/2023 17:32:34